The best streamable stand-up, musicals, sport and more

Cast your mind back to your first-ever television – was it tiny? Black and white? A little fuzzy? When it comes to entertainment, we live in exciting times, with large flat-screens, HD imaging and Dolby Sound putting us right in the middle of the action. We can also stream whatever we want whenever we want, and watch from the comfort of our living room. Netflix and Amazon Prime now schedule a fantastic range of sport, music, theatre and comedy so you needn't go anywhere. Just grab your remote and settle in – we've got you covered.

SPORT

Andy Murray: Resurfacing

Now streaming on: Amazon Prime

He may not be the most enigmatic of sports personalities but this documentary – charting the tennis star’s journey from injury to success – is both honest and brave. Watch behind the scenes footage of his surgery in Australia, followed by months of rehab.

The Test: A New Era for Australia’s Team

Now streaming on: Amazon Prime

The Australian Men’s Cricket Team must rebuild its reputation after the 2018 ‘sandpaper scandal’ (using sandpaper to rough up the ball so that it swings in flight), which illustrates the lengths athletes will go to.

The Edge

Now streaming on: Amazon Prime

A funny, heart-warming story about a special band of brothers who led the English Test Cricket Team from the bottom of the rankings to world number one status between 2009 and 2013.

Building Jerusalem

Now streaming on: Amazon Prime

An extraordinary look at English rugby from behind the scenes, including interviews with key players Jonny Wilkinson, Clive Woodard, Martin Johnson and Matt Dawson. If Rome wasn’t built in a day, we imagine Jerusalem wasn’t either.

Iverson

Now streaming on: Netflix

Allen Iverson is an NBA icon who jumped through hoops to put the sport on the map, despite a rocky upbringing of drugs and violence. If you’re in need of an inspirational tale, Iverson could be the Answer.

Formula 1: Drive to Survive

Now streaming on: Netflix

A racy behind the scenes look at Formula 1 – from the drivers and the managers to the competitions and the crashes. Witness what a team goes through when owners change, and the pressure they feel to outperform other drivers.

Sir Alex Ferguson: Secrets of Success

Now streaming on: Netflix

A documentary about the life of retired Manchester United manager Sir Alex Ferguson and how, in his own words, he led the team to success. Any football follower will love this (yes, that includes City fans).

Icarus

Now streaming on: Netflix

You'd have to be a dope to take drugs in sport these days, but when film-maker Bryan Fogel set out to uncover the truth about doping in cycling he ended up embroiled in a Russian scandal. Gripping.

“

Entertainment has this way of resetting itself.

Zachary Levi

STAND-UP COMEDY

Trevor Noah: Son of Patricia

Now streaming on: Netflix

If you had tickets to see Trevor Noah's now postponed show at The O2, you can still get your fix on Netflix. In Son of Patricia, the Daily Show host talks tacos, camping, runaway snakes (of course) and lessons he learned from his mother.

Michael McIntyre: Happy & Glorious

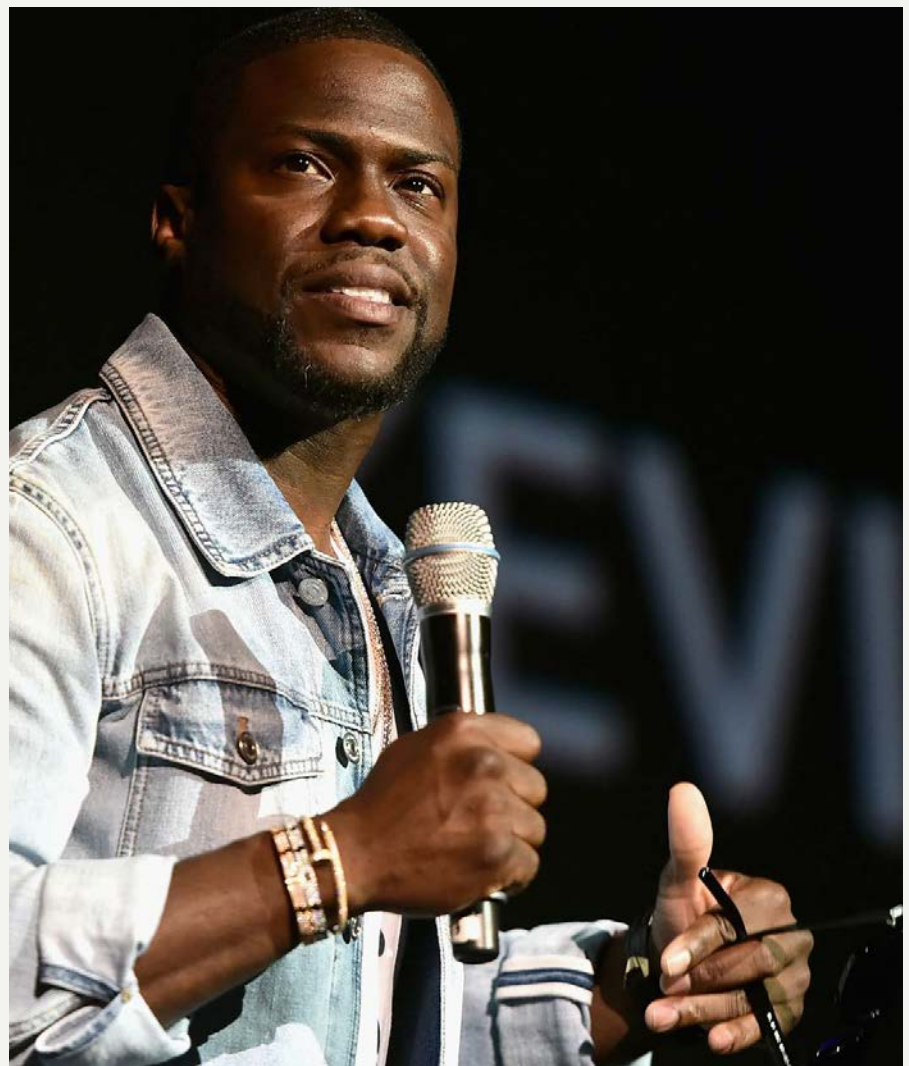

Now streaming on: Amazon Prime

Proving you don't have to be irreverent to be funny, McIntyre takes a pop at shopping in Waitrose, Google Maps and giving kids Calpol – parents will absolutely howl with laughter.

Kevin Hart: Irresponsible

Now streaming on: Netflix

Father of three, Hart is on his second marriage and trying to clean up his act... a little. Profanely rude yet hilarious, this show is about being irresponsible despite having responsibilities. Keeping it real, people.

Ricky Gervais: Humanity

Now streaming on: Netflix

“I’m just an ordinary guy going ‘round talking to people – sort of like Jesus. But better. I’ve actually turned up.” His first special in seven years sees Ricky Gervais talk celebrities, mortality and how the Brits take everything personally.

Romesh Ranganathan: Irrational Live

Now streaming on: Amazon Prime

Recorded at The Hammersmith Apollo in front of a full house, Ranganathan takes a dig at strangers in coffee houses, kids and Madonna before going on to suggest that it’s easier to be faithful if you’re ugly. He may be ugly (his words, not ours) but he’s incredibly funny.

Jack Whitehall: At Large

Now streaming on: Netflix

“Four glasses of wine with dinner in Britain and you’re the designated driver,” claims Jack Whitehall in At Large, a hilarious look at drinking, drugs and people’s behaviour at airports. Dancers, costume changes and fireworks make this a real cracker of a show.

Sarah Millican: Outsider Live

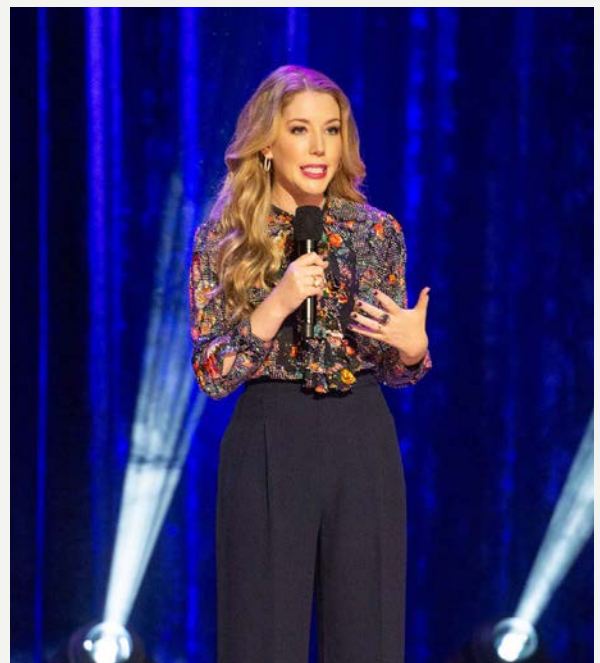

Now streaming on: Amazon Prime

Multi award-winning Sarah Millican regularly shares her comic genius with sold-out audiences. Her fourth stand-up show, Outsider, discusses morning routines, bonding with your cat and being the lady of the house.

Katherine Ryan: Glitter Room

Now streaming on: Netflix

Her second stand-up show for Netflix sees Katherine Ryan share her thoughts on staying single until you’re as old as Celine Dion who, despite being a whole OJ prison sentence and a half older than Ryan, is hot as hell, apparently.

MUSICALS AND THEATRE

La La Land

Now streaming on: Netflix

If, like us, you're pleasantly surprised when an actor can sing and dance, you're in for a treat. Enter the dulcet tones (and twinkling toes) of Ryan Gosling and Emma Stone, who sing and dance their way through this nostalgic love story.

Daft Punk: Unchained

Now streaming on: Netflix

Unchained documents the lives of Daft Punk members Guy-Manuel de Homem-Christo and Thomas Bangalter, and their pioneering influence on the electronic music scene. One More Time, anyone?

Adele: The Only Way Is Up

Now streaming on: Amazon Prime

With no reference to the song by Yaz & The Plastic Population, The Only Way Is Up takes a candid look at the life of an ordinary girl from Croydon who became a world-wide singing sensation.

Hamilton: One Shot to Broadway

Now streaming on: Amazon Prime

If you love Broadway musicals, you'll love this story about a group of mavericks who combined hip-hop with history to create Hamilton, a musical charting the life of Alexander Hamilton, one of the founding fathers of the United States. Its overnight success changed Broadway forever.

Homecoming

Now streaming on: Netflix

She sings, she dances, she raises her children simultaneously... Homecoming follows ex Destiny's Child singer turned global superstar Beyoncé's 2018 Coachella performance, with behind the scenes footage of prep, rehearsals and family time on the road.

Springsteen on Broadway

Now streaming on: Netflix

Springsteen as you've never seen him before. This intimate acoustic show, telling stories of Springsteen's life from childhood to becoming The Boss, sold out within minutes when it opened on Broadway in 2018.

Lady Gaga: Five Foot Two

Now streaming on: Netflix

There's a whole lot of personality in that five-foot-two frame with her bizarre antics including wearing a dress made of raw meat. This documentary follows the pop provocateur as she releases a new album, prepares for her Super Bowl halftime show, and confronts emotional and physical struggles.

Taylor Swift: Reputation Stadium Tour

Now streaming on: Netflix

She may encourage us all to "Shake it Off" but don't be fooled by Taylor Swift's catchy bubblegum pop; this girl writes her own lyrics and has achieved unprecedented success. This Netflix special shows off her darker side.
